DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for women's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true. The "Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicine put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonial" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all women's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms. Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as strictly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questioning and personal examinations are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 31 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative, two or three cathartic.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has a tendency to make trouble.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newb's Herpicide to the scalp. It will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

COL. MOSBY IN BOSTON.

We publish Col. John S. Mosby's speech in Boston, at the banquet in celebration of Grant's birthday. The Colonel was royally received in Boston, and he has had a fine time. He says that two men whom he captured during the war, and between whom he sat at the banquet, were so kind to him that he felt sorry he had ever captured them and almost wished they had captured him. He visited "Marshall," the home of Daniel Webster, of whom he is a great admirer, and in a letter to a friend he tells of his emotions quoted Milton's words on Shakespeare's tomb.

"And so sepulchred in such pomp doth lie, That Kings for such a tomb might wish to die."

He also went to Plymouth and got a piece of the immortal rock and saw Miles Standish's monument. Those who know him need not be told that Col. Mosby is not by practice or profession a subscriber to Puritan theology, but in common with all thinkers he knows they were a noble hand and did their duty as they understood it. He called on Mrs. Webster at Harvard whose father, Major Forbes, he captured during the war. She is a granddaughter of Emerson whose home, at Concord, Col. Mosby visited. There is no state in the union with such memories as Massachusetts, and by imagining yourself in his place, you can understand Col. Mosby's pleasure better than when described in words.—[Warrenton Virginian.]

Ulysses S. Grant was honored by the Middlesex Club of Boston, on the anniversary of his birthday April 27. Between 300 and 400 members gathered in the large banquet hall of the Brunswick Hotel, and for several hours exchanged recollections of war time and of the great leader. A fine picture of Grant, given by him to the club, hung draped in stars and stripes.

Col. Wm. H. Dyer, presided. The guests were Gov. Guild, the Hon. James M. Beck, of New York, ex-assistant attorney-general of the United States; Col. John S. Mosby, of Virginia, and William H. Elroy, journalist, of New York. Col. Mosby was appropriately seated between two Massachusetts men whom he captured during the war, Frank P. Morse and Fred Broughton. Col. Mosby said:

I desire to express my thanks to this company for the kind sentiments that have been spoken and for the hospitable reception they have given me. I was in Boston 20 years ago; when I went home I reported that the Boston people were more like the Virginia people than any I had ever seen. I was perfectly sincere; of course I intend to be so again as a compliment to the Bostonians. I am here this evening as the guest of the Middlesex Club to pay my tribute of respect to the memory of Gen. Grant, and to testify that my affection for him has not changed. No man ever had a better friend than he was to me.

"The last time I saw him was at Hongkong. I was consul for the United States; he was a private citizen. No better evidence could have been given to the representatives of the nations that our country was one and indivisible. It was my peculiar fortune to be an intimate terms with the great commander of the army of Northern Virginia during the war, and with his great antagonist after the war.

"No soldier clung longer to the Southern Confederacy than I did; and I can apply to myself the words which the Roman poet put into the mouth of the champion of a lost cause: 'If Troy could have been saved by this right hand, even by the same it would have been saved.' But the southern people were not lost with their cause, for in their ashes lived their wanted fires. From the wreck and the ruin of war they have risen, and today there is a stronger sentiment of nationality among them than ever existed before the conflict of arms.

"The credit of this is largely due to Gen. Grant in keeping the faith that he pledged at Appomattox. He allowed no pomp of war to humiliate the vanquished; he did not compel them to go through the form of passing under the yoke, like the Roman legions in the Caudine Forks. His first order after the articles were signed was to issue rations to the starving confederates; his next was to silence a battery that was firing a salute. His great soul would not add one pang to defeat or join in a paean of triumph on the field of victory.

"It is for this reason that if the news of Appomattox brought sorrow, the memory of it brings no sense of humiliation to southern hearts. In the last scene of the great tragedy the two great actors appear at their best. One rose to the summit of power; the other went to the shades of the academy—but not with the despair of Cæsar Marcius, sitting among the ruins of Carthage.

"And lived and died—as none can live or die."

After the vociferous applause had died away, William H. Elroy brought the meeting to a close with stories and praise to the republicanism of the Middlesex Club.

Scandals Outcome of Suit.

Scandals involving several families in Richmond and Manchester are the outcome of a suit for divorce filed by Mrs. J. Sils Daniel, wife of the physician who recently acquired notoriety as the proprietor of the sanitarium at Seventh and Franklin streets, and who was convicted in the U. S. Court several months ago and fined $500 for sending matter of an immoral nature through the mails.

In her bill of complaint filed in the Chesterfield Circuit Court, Mrs. Daniels declares the doctor had been maintaining a notorious establishment in Chesterfield county, where he purchased a suburban home some months ago. He is now planning to build a palatial colonial residence there. She represents him to be a man of large means and large income, and asks alimony commensurate with her husband's wealth. She charges him with gross immorality and with cruelty. The doctor's new home, she says, is a house of horrors.

Three correspondents are named by the plaintiff—two married women and a young girl the latter well connected in Chesterfield. One of the correspondents was a nurse in the maternity hospital conducted by Daniels, in Seventh street. She testified in his defense when he was on trial in the United States Circuit Court. According to the declaration of Mrs. Daniels, she lived in the doctor's Chesterfield home after he had moved from Richmond.

Another correspondent is the wife of a traveling man. She was employed as a nurse by Doctor Daniels. Mrs. Daniels says in her declaration that the nurses were instructed by her husband to beat her if she offended them in any way while they were in his house. Mrs. Daniels charges her husband with gross immorality, and several other women figure in the case as witnesses.

Depositions will be taken next Tuesday. An order has been entered in the Chesterfield Circuit compelling Daniels to pay his wife $50 a month pending the divorce proceedings. Mrs. Daniels was a Mrs. Cropper, a widow, when she married Daniels. She has many relatives in Richmond. Her home is now in Petersburg.

Divorce for J. B. Duke.

Vice-Chancellor Pitney announced late yesterday in Newark, N. J., that he would recommend a decree of divorce in favor of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company. The announcement of the court followed what amounted to a complete surrender on the part of the defendant, Mrs. Lillian Nannette Duke, divorced wife of William McCready, and Frank T. Hunt, major of the Old Guard and former proprietor of the Hoffman Club, in west Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

In announcing his decision to recommend a decree in favor of the petitioner in the suit, Vice-Chancellor Pitney was unreluctant in his criticism of the defendants. He said the telegrams and personals published in a Paris newspaper were conclusive proof of the relationship between the defendant and the co-respondent, and that the messages sent from Durham, N. C., after Mr. and Mrs. Duke's return from their wedding trip, were absolute evidence of a deplorable state of affairs when coming from a married woman.

After his decision the Court granted the application of Richard V. Lindabury, chief counsel for Mrs. Duke, for an extra allowance besides the ordinary taxed costs of the suit. Mr. Lindabury said that the expenses of the suit had been unusual, and that the minimum counsel fee ought to be $5,000, but the Court held that the sum granted to Mrs. Duke on the application for her allowance for alimony ought to be satisfactory, and fixed the sum at $3,000.

A good complexion is impossible with the stomach out of order. If pasty as low people would pay more attention to their stomachs and less to the skin on their faces, they would have better complexion. KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA will digest what you eat and put your stomach back right in shape to do its own work. Kodol relieves palpitation of the heart, flatulence, sour stomach, heart burn, etc. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King St.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure. Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store. Price 10c.
